CIVILIAN DEFENSE INFORMATION

CHANGE RULES ON CONTROL OF INCENDIARY BOMBS

New instructions for dealing with fire bombs, most important the use of the jet of water instead of a spray, and a minimization of the value of sand, have been issued by the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense.

These revised instructions are the results of extensive research by technicians of OCD and the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army. The major change in procedure calls for the use of a direct stream of water on the bomb instead of the spray hitherto recommended. Also the need for speed is emphasized, in attacking the bomb with a jet of water as soon as it falls rather than waiting for the thermite reaction to be completed or for a "buster" charge to go off.

Experiments here and recent experience in Great Britain have shown it to be absolutely necessary to change our procedure in attacking incendiary bombs. The jet method is quicker and more effective.

Actually the fire the bomb starts is more dangerous than the bomb itself, and the quickest and surest way to reduce that danger is to strike the bomb with a jet of water. This puts the bomb out of action in less than one minute so that, if necessary, other fire bombs can be attacked before they can start serious fires. With the new method, more lives and more property may be saved in the event of a raid.

The new instructions, reduced to essentials, are as follows:

1. Bring your fire fighting equipment to the scene at once.
2. Shoot a jet of water directly at the bomb without delay, to put it out of action quickly.
3. Then use the jet, quickly, to quench fragments and the remains of the bomb, and any fires that might have been started.
4. Be absolutely sure the fire is out before you leave the scene.
5. Use a coarse spray only where scattering of metal must be avoided, such as where there are concentrations of highly inflammable materials.
6. Use sand only if a bomb falls where it is not likely to start a fire or if water is not available, or where the glare of the bomb can be seen by enemy fliers.

The jet of water can be obtained from a garden hose, any water-type fire extinguisher, and a pump tank extinguisher or a stirrup pump. The amount of water required to dispose of a bomb by the jet technique is less than half that needed for the spray treatment. Under certain circumstances, this economy of water may be of vital importance.

The use of the jet also permits the operator to stand well away from the bomb and, with some personal protection such as that provided by an ash can lid, small chair or wet blanket, affords increased personal safety.

NO CIGARETTE SMOKING DURING A BLACKOUT

The State Council has reiterated a previous warning to the effect that cigarette smoking outdoors during a blackout is a violation of blackout regulations, and cautioned civilians to observe the ruling in the coming Pennsylvania-New Jersey blackout and air raid test.

"Air raid wardens are authorized to report all persons lighting matches and smoking outdoors during the next State-wide blackout test," said Raymond E. Riegelmeier, illumination control officer.

He explained the authorization was under temporary regulations of the State Council which state in part:

"Any open fires that are burning shall be extinguished. No additional fires shall be started."

Although smoking is not mentioned in the regulations, Riegelmeier declared, they are interpreted to mean that no one outdoors during a blackout shall light or smoke a cigarette.

Launch Drive for More Nurse's Aides

A nation-wide campaign to recruit thousands of women for the Volunteer Nurse's Aides Corps will be launched by the American Red Cross in September.

In Philadelphia and the four suburban counties which comprise the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross, a campaign to recruit 2100 more Nurse's Aides will be launched on September 13.

All women between the ages of 18 and 50, in good health and with a high school education or its equivalent may apply for training as Nurse's Aides.

Aides must serve a minimum of 150 hours per year, after they have completed an intensive 80-hour training course. However, many of the volunteers now on duty in hospitals and clinics are devoting many more hours of their time to help relieve overworked hospital staffs.

"E" Lapel Buttons For Autocar Men Given by Army and Navy for High Production Record

Autocar Company employees will soon be wearing a silver lapel button — the gift of the U. S. Army and Navy.

The "E" insignia on the button will go to the employees "for high achievement in the production of war equipment."

Also the Company will be presented with an "E" pennant which will be on display at the plant. Awards for the Company and men were announced by Robert P. Patterson, under secretary of war. Autocar is one of the first two companies in this entire seven-state Army Ordnance district to receive the coveted award.

Mr. Patterson also sent a personal letter of announcement and of commendation to Robert P. Page, the Autocar president, in which he said: "This award symbolizes your country's appreciation of the achievement of every man and woman in the Autocar company. Accorded only to those organizations which have shown exceptional performance in fulfilling their tasks, it consists of a flag to be flown above your plant, and a lapel pin which each individual within your organization may wear as a sign of distinguished service to his country."

Autocar was one of the first industrial plants in the Philadelphia area to receive government orders at the very outset of the national defense emergency, more than two years ago, and for many months all of Autocar's capacity has been exclusively engaged in war production. They are executing contracts for the Ordnance and Quartermaster departments of the Army and also producing specialized vehicles for the Navy.

Urge Diabetics To Wear Identification Tag

"Every one of the fifty thousand diabetics in Pennsylvania should wear an identification tag to insure him emergency treatment in the event of injury during possible enemy attack from air or land forces," declared Dr. J. West Mitchell, of Pittsburgh, Chairman of the Commission on Diabetes of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"The proper care of the diabetic after injury demands attention to his diabetic state as well as to his wounds," explained Dr. Mitchell. "Delay of a few hours in the proper treatment of an injured diabetic or treatment which may be correct in every detail from the point of view of his injuries alone may prove fatal."

All diabetics are urged to apply for these tags, either to their physician, county medical society or the Commission on Diabetes, Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, 300 State St., Harrisburg, Pa.

Historic Cannon To Be Broken Up For Scrap Metal

Narberth's historic cannon, which once caused a community furor, is on the road to being broken up for scrap metal.

Burns F. Best, commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, appeared before the Narberth Borough Council Monday night to discuss with them a letter he had received from Major Lowell S. Thomas, assistant to the Ordnance chief in the U. S. War Department. The letter suggested that all cannons or similar historic markers be turned into scrap in the Nation-wide salvage campaign.

The Legion commander said that inasmuch as the cannon stood on Borough property at the northwest corner of the Community Playground at Windsor and Wynnewood av. that the Council should act. Members of the Council indicated they were willing to do so but asked for a letter from the Legion, sponsors of the historic marker project, indicating their approval.

When the plan to obtain the cannon and establish the historical plot was inaugurated several years ago it was opposed by local members of a peace association who contended that the cannon as a symbol would only tend to keep alive warlike traits in Narberth residents. There were letters exchanged and protest meetings called but the American Legion won the bout and the cannon was obtained from the Army's ordnance department.

The letter from Major Thomas reads in part:

"Today this United States is engaged in a great struggle against forces which threaten the very foundation of democracy. Every bit of metal available is needed to produce modern and efficient weapons of war in sufficient amount to stamp out the present common danger."

When the cannon is turned over for salvage the letter directs that it be broken up in the presence of representatives of the local veterans' organization. Also, it suggests that the proceeds from its sale as scrap be used for the purchase of war bonds.

Remedy Sought In Drainage Problem

Borough Considers Complaints Of Residents Near Montgomery Avenue

Montgomery County commissioners will be asked to remedy a roadway drainage situation that during the heavy storm of July 31 flooded properties on the east side of Shady Lane between Wynnedale rd. and Montgomery av.

When the County's highway department re-surfaced Montgomery av. through this section, the bed of the roadway was raised. On July 31 water flowing over the roadway at this point ran over the curb onto the nearby properties. Although the curb line is in Lower Merion Township, all of the properties flooded are in Narberth Borough.

In a letter to the Borough Council, the solicitor, Henry A. Frye, suggested the matter be referred to the County commissioners.

He pointed out that a similar condition existed in the Borough on June 26, 1933, when residents suffered from a storm sewer that overflowed. This led, he said, to the Indian Creek Storm Sewer Bond Issue which remedied the trouble.

Frye said that property owners whose lawns and gardens had been flooded by the storm water, brought the matter to his attention.

Continue Drive For Phonograph Records

The Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, Narberth is continuing its drive for old phonograph records in the Borough.

Old records may be left in the box provided at the post-office, the Narberth Theatre or the American Legion room in the Community Building. On their regular rounds, the delivery trucks of Whiteside's grocery, Ralph Dunne's fuel oil company and Chester Jones' ice company will also pick up records.

Anyone unable to contribute through any of these collection agencies may call Mrs. James A. McCaffrey at Narberth 2567 and she will see that the records are called for.

The records will be sold and the proceeds used to buy new records for the men in service.

Main Liners Aid Refugee Children

Several Main Liners were among the contributors toward the support of children of the United Nations in Great Britain through the Poster Parents' Plan for War Children for the month of July. It was announced this week.

They were Miss Maretta Carver, Miss Letitia Scott and Mrs. H. Gates Lloyd, all of Haverford; Charles W. Colt, Montgomery Court Apts., Narberth, and Miss Gertrude Ely, Bryn Mawr.

Main Line League Shortens Schedule; Play-offs Will Start Sunday, Aug. 23

Rain prevented the breaking of the triple tie for first place in the Main Line Baseball League last week-end but it didn't keep the managers and league officials from going into a huddle and arriving at several decisions of traditional shattering importance.

Meeting in Narberth last week to determine whether or not to play out the rest of the schedule they argued long into the night and finally agreed upon the following:

1. No effort would be made to playoff postponed games.
2. Games scheduled for Sunday, August 23, would be canceled and the regular season would thus come to an end on the previous day, Saturday, August 22.
3. The preliminary playoffs under the Shaughnessy system would get underway Sunday, August 23.
4. No cash prize would be given to the team finishing in first place.

MAIN LINE LEAGUE Standings of the Teams

Narberth	14	6	700
Collegians	12	8	600

Week-end Schedule:

Instead, the fund set aside for that purpose would be divided evenly among all the teams.

5. Any ties for any of the first four positions in the final standings would be broken by a coin's toss to determine playoff rivals. Team finishing in first place plays team in third place and second

It's Up to Him

Fire House To Get Air Raid Calls

Plan Will Relieve The Necessity For "Dog Watch"

The problem of who will man the "dog watch" at Narberth's air raid control center in the Community Building has been settled.

Burgess Richard L. Miller told members of the Borough Council Monday night that hereafter air raid alarms would be received at the Narberth Fire Company. From this source, the Burgess said, the alarm would be passed along to members of the Defense Council and the heads of other auxiliary services notified.

"Now," said Burgess Miller, "the question of who is going to man the dog watch will not be involved." The Burgess explained that the Borough's fire company was the natural place to receive these calls as there is someone on duty there 24 hours a day.

For the present, he said, the telephone that was installed in the Community Building control center will be maintained.

The Narberth Defense Council attempted to set up a 24-hour watch at the control center but was unable to obtain a sufficient number of volunteers for the night hours. Although 115 volunteered, only a few were willing to accept duty from 12 midnight to 6 a. m.

Plan Instruction on Triennial Assessment

In preparation for the triennial assessment to be made this year of all real estate in the County, assessors "schools" will be conducted by the Montgomery County Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes in various sections of the County, beginning August 17.

Subordinate assessors from the townships and boroughs will attend the schools to receive instructions. The triennial assessment will be completed by December 31 and is effective for the years of 1943, 1944 and 1945.

E. C. Griswold, Narberth assessor, will attend the school on September 1, in Court Room D, Court House, Norristown.

Letters To The Editor . . . .

"Our Town," Narberth, Pa.

Dear Editor G. A. Walker:

Last month a "gang" of Marines left the Navy Yard here in Philly well armed with bats and intentions, with the idea that they were going to "bat" the heads off their hosts, your Main Line All-Star ball club. That they did not do so is past history, and from our angle, the past, the better, for our boys sure took a pasting.

But — the defeat was tempered by the fact that each and every one of our crowd that was present, including our invited guests, were treated so royally, that the sting of defeat was forgotten. The social angle was a perfect success that even Emily Post would compliment. The food was great; the weather was perfect, but the greatest feature of the entire affair was the phenomenal success of the venture financially. When our head, Captain C. Brewster Grace, was given the check for the Navy Relief, amounting to a shade less than eight hundred dollars, he was overcome, but not too much so to tell me to send you all a letter of appreciation, not only for the fund, but for the fine way you all acted in your fair town.

Our genial business manager, Albert Icke, told me just this morning that he is negotiating a return game, and you can rest assured that each and every person who attended the "Relief" game will be present, as well as many, many others who heard of your town. When the boys left the Navy Yard, many remarks were heard, to the effect that they were going to a little bump on the map, a stereotyped copy of thousands of other such towns about, but — how differently they all spoke when they returned. Your Chamber of Commerce has more boosters here in Narberth itself, and that is a compliment enough.

This started out as a letter of appreciation, from Captain C. Brewster Grace, our morale officer at the Yard, who is heart and soul in athletics, and his enthusiasm is shared by his assistant business manager for the ball team, Albert Icke, from the writer, and so on down the line from everyone who was lucky enough to partake of your hospitality.

Thanking you again,
JOHN L. HARRIS,
Corporal John L. Harris,
Marine Barracks,
Navy Yard, Phila., Pa.

Unnecessary To Prepare Tin Cans Will Be Picked Up on Regular Trash Collection Days

Residents of Lower Merion and Narberth are no longer being asked to prepare their discarded tin cans for special salvage collections.

In certain cities in the State residents have been asked to wash their tin cans, cut the ends out and flatten them for special detinning processes. However, the State Salvage Committee has not directed this action for this area, including Montgomery County.

Tin cans may therefore be disposed of in the regular way through the trash disposal. Scrap materials put in the collections will be sorted at the incinerator and put into the regular salvage channels.

Residents should not ask the Township trash collection teams to come into their houses to pick up materials. According to W. E. Rosengarten, Lower Merion Township engineer, routine instructions given the forces prohibit these trips, and residents are asked to comply with them by setting all salvage outside in the regular manner.

READING & WRITING BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

ABOUT six years ago newspaper headlines announced the spectacular trans-Atlantic flight of a young woman aviator named Beryl Markham from the shores of England to North America. Miss Markham was the first woman to make this East to West solo flight, the first person to fly from England to America. Yet this excursion was by no means Miss Markham's most hazardous undertaking, we learned from her recently autobiography, "West With The Night."

Miss Markham was born in East Africa, the daughter of an English gentleman farmer. At the age of seventeen she was earning her living training thoroughbred horses. She later became the first professional woman air pilot in Africa.

One night she flew three hundred miles to carry an oxygen tank to a man who was dangerously ill in a remote mining camp. On her way home from it she was searched for another pilot who had been missing for several days. In the midst of a herd of zebras she saw what looked like a small pool gleaming in the sunlight. It was the silver wings of the missing plane. She made a risky landing, rescued the pilot, who was haggard but grinning. "Have you anything to eat?" he said. She took him back to headquarters. "It was all in a day's work."

One of Beryl Markham's earliest memories has to do with a lion—a supposedly domesticated lion who inhabited the farm of a friend of her father's. When they went visiting, she trotted out to get a look at this famous animal. She walked past him slowly, singing, because she had been taught that one must not show fear. But the lion reverted to type and stalked her. She was saved only by the intervention of a native servant who had felt it his duty to keep an eye on her. The native tactfully informed her father of what had happened. "Your daughter," he said, "has been moderately eaten by a large lion."

"West With The Night" is the story of an unusual woman, and is also an unusual book—told with humor, with compassion, and a rare sensitivity to the wonders of life and nature.

Gertrude Diamant, author of one of the September Book-of-the-Month Club selections, "The Days of Ofelia" (the other is Robert Trumbull's "The Raft"), says that her favorite type of humor is what she calls "shaggy dog" jokes. When we asked her to define that term, she said somewhat vaguely that they were jokes that were pointless. As an example she told a story she said originated in Colombo. It seems that a man once saw a parrot climb a tree, so he started to climb after it. After they had climbed for a while, the parrot turned around, looked at him, and said, "Why are you following me?" The man paused and took off his hat. "I beg your pardon," he said. "I thought you were a bird."

State Now Ready To Clean Up Cull

Fear Schuylkill Flash Floods May Cause Greater Damage

Reliable reports were circulated this week that the State Sanitary Water Board was preparing to exercise the authority it has always had by demanding that the anthracite industry stop contaminating the Schuylkill River with cull from their collieries.

The reason for their determined action at this time seems to be the fact that the heavy cull deposits in the river bed were largely responsible for recent floods.

Members of the Board also saw the possibility that greater storms might add to the gravity of the situation and cause unmitigated damage and great suffering among the people who live in the Schuylkill River valley.

The Board is awaiting a subcommittee report and this report is supposed to tell them what can be done about the coal mine silt that is draining into the river.

Lower Merion Township and other adjacent suburban municipalities have a stake in cleaning up the Schuylkill River. If projected regional plans are carried through in the future, the river will be used for swimming and other aquatic sports and its shores for parkways and outdoor recreation. Cull deposits and contaminated water of the river now make this impossible.

Montdel Playoffs To Start Aug. 23rd

Eliminations for Four Leading Teams Still In Doubt

The start of the Montdel League playoffs is set for the 23rd, just a little over a week off, but the circuit still has plenty of unfinished business ahead. The regular league season was supposed to end on Tuesday, but the rain cut such a wide path through the list of scheduled games that the teams will be hard-pressed to get in the contests which will have to be made up.

No one position is clinched, nor are the four teams which will compete in the final playoff series determined. St. Margaret's, of Narberth; Good Counsel, of Bryn Mawr; and St. Denis, of Oakmont, are sure of appearing in the championship series, but Annunciation, from Brookline, will have a battle on its hands to make the fourth spot.

The Brooks lost a chance to clinch the fourth spot on Thursday when they bowed 10-6 to Sacred Heart, of Manoa, in one of three games played during the week. As a result of that reverse the lead of the Annunciation team was cut to one and one-half games over St. Thomas, of Villanova. And Sacred Heart, with the same number of defeats as St. Thomas — ten — and with three more games to play might conceivably figure in the playoff.

Annunciation has three games yet to play, plus a fourth which may either be declared a forfeit or ordered replayed by the league headquarters, depending upon the bearing it may have upon the pennant race. Should the Brooks beat either St. Laurence, St. Colman's or Good Counsel they probably will clinch the fourth spot. However, defeats in three of these games would place the issue squarely up to the league upon the disposal of a twice-postponed game with St. Denis.

This game, originally a 2-2 tie which had to be played off, was rescheduled for Sunday but was rained out, as were games between Sacred Heart and St. Margaret's, and St. Colman's and St. Thomas. It was supposed to have been played at Ardmore Tuesday, but Bob Martin, Annunciation manager, claims he did not have time to get his team together.

Regardless of what Annunciation does in its final games St. Thomas will have to win its game with St. Colman's, and Sacred Heart must triumph in all three of its remaining contests to tie for the fourth spot. As two of these three frays are with St. Denis and St. Margaret's the outlook is not too good for the Manoaites.

St. Denis is making a determined bid to gain first place in the league standings, a bid which will be contested Sunday by the St. Margaret's nine which has held to top spot since the season opened. The Narberth nine lost valuable ground Thursday when Bill Roger's St. Thomas team handed Ted Finns' club a 5-4 setback, but can put a serious crimp in the St. Denis plans by upsetting Marshall Halphen's team Sunday at Ardmore. A win in this game and another in the affair with Sacred Heart at Manoa next Wednesday would clinch the top spot for the borough clan.

It is quite likely the first place deadlock among Gladwyne, Manoa and Narberth will be broken this week-end.

Manoa entertains Overbrook on Sunday while Gladwyne plays host to Brookline and Narberth meets Overbrook in Saturday tests. The other week-end game pits Brookline against the Collegians on Sunday.

CALLING THE TURN

It may be rather hard to believe but football is just around the corner. Taking advantage of summer sessions, Haverford College already has started practice and Clipper Smith has been holding informal conditioning drills up at Villanova College so that there will be a minimum of delay when formal practice gets underway within a few weeks.

Coach Dick Mattis, of Lower Merion, has issued a call for candidates on August 25 and Haverford High expects to start work the same week.

In fact, Bill Stinson, coach of the Fords, has been holding little get-togethers at his home during the summer to stimulate enthusiasm among the boys and to get them thinking and talking football.

WHERE ARE SOFT SPOTS?

When the boys get around to comparing schedules in the next couple weeks I don't think they'll find one anywhere tougher than that arranged for Lower Merion. There isn't a soft spot on it, all nine of the rivals being the strongest in the district year in and year out.

In addition to the Big Six Conference rivals and the annual game with Norristown, an old and respected foe, the Maroon will be called upon to face West Philadelphia, 1941 Public League and co-champion of Philadelphia; Chester High, which has been riding high in the grid world in recent years; and Phoenixville, perennial Chester County champion.

Most teams have breathers here and there between its conference games, but if anything Lower Merion's Big Six Conference games might very easily be less formidable than the other contests. Off hand, we'd say any team would be fortunate to win six games on a schedule such as confronts Lower Merion in 1942.

NO TRAVEL PROBLEMS

The schedule has several excellent features. There is only one travel problem; that's the game at Chester on October 3. The only other away game is that listed with Haverford High at nearby Brookline. All the others will be played either at Pennypacker Field or at Villanova stadium.

Everyone of these home contests should pack lots of appeal and ought to draw crowds of sufficient size to help Lower Merion recover from the recent 1941 budget, crippled by the infantile paralysis quarantine.

The Phoenixville and Radnor games are slated for Villanova stadium. We have it on good authority that at least two other games would be played there provided a better financial arrangement could be made with the college.

It is our understanding that Villanova College gets 20 percent of the receipts of all high school games played at the stadium. When you deduct this amount and the federal tax from the receipts and give the visiting team its guarantee there isn't too much available for the school's athletic treasury.

Temple University, we are told, charges Abington and Cheltenham only 10 percent of the receipts for the use of its stadium. If Villanova charged a similar fee it is definite that Lower Merion, and possibly Radnor, would play more games there.

IT'S GOOD BUSINESS

It looks to us as if Villanova is passing up a good bet in not encouraging the schools to use its stadium. There is very little, if any, expense connected with the rental of the stadium. Anything realized from the school games is so much gravy. And surely it is only good business to have five games played there, say at a fee of 10 percent of the receipts, than only one or two at 20 percent.

Regardless of the financial inducement, you'd imagine Villanova College would be happy to have local schools use its stadium if only for the purpose of promoting good will.

Due to the construction of new buildings, Lower Merion's football field is not in the best of shape nor will it be possible to accommodate the crowds that some of the games are sure to draw this fall. Villanova stadium is the answer to the problem. The college and L. M. authorities should get together and arrange things for their mutual benefit.

New Fibre Hunting Tags to Save 10 Tons Of Tin Plate

Game Commission Encourages County Hunters

Montgomery County's hunters need not worry about ammunition for the small game season next fall unless present war conditions take an acute change for the worse.

The State Game Commission has been advised by Federal officials it wants all sportsmen to enjoy the hunt and, at the same time, keep their marksmanship up for use in case of civilian emergencies.

Pennsylvania's new fibre hunting tags, replacing metal plates in the interest of national defense, will be available along with licenses by August 25, the Revenue Department said.

First shipment of the new tags, authorized under an act approved at the wartime special session of the Legislature early this year, moved to county treasurers today. They will thus be available "earlier than ever before," Revenue Secretary Edward B. Logan said. The 1941 licenses expire August 31.

The new license tags, selected with aid of the State Game Commission, are of heavy vulcanized, moisture-resistant fibre. Samples soaked in water for 70 hours showed no signs of deterioration, other than becoming slightly pliable, it was said.

Since the lettering will not fade or run, revenue officials urged hunters to place their names and addresses on back of each tag so they may be returned quickly if lost.

An estimated 10 tons of coated tin plate and $12,000 was saved for the State and sportsmen respectively by the fibre tag substitution.

HELP CLEAR THE TRACKS!

War has jammed telephone lines with the greatest flood of calls in history. Thousands of these calls are vital to victory. Like army convoys, they must have the right of way.

You can help.
Don't make unnecessary calls. Don't call "information" for numbers which are listed in the directory.

Before you call, think what you're going to say so that calling back will be unnecessary.
Keep your conversations as short as possible—especially on party lines.

If your call can wait, make it in the "off-peak" hours—between noon and 2 P. M.; between 5 and 7 P. M.; between 9 P. M. and 9 A. M.

Your cooperation will help to give important war calls a clear track and full speed ahead!
